Comment:

He just started the real process in September and compare to the amount of time he did very well when it comes to the results of his. Highlight of his season were: the World Team Championships, the Hungarian Championships and the U21 World Tours. He had some bad events throughout the time, however, overall he collected very good wins, played a good score in the 2nd league and made the Top 100 on the WR. Well done for the results in his first real professional year!

Comment:

There are several very good points in his mental area such as; engagement, involvement, how to handle big games and events. He is sharp and takes the information fastly. But, there are some points that needs to be taken care of constantly and these are: facing difficulties, developing mental persistence in practice and at tournaments. He must face his dark side and he must improve the way he handle tough situations. Definitely a lot to work to do but, as we said, without good general mental skills he couldn't make such a jump in his game and results, so all is very positive for him.

Comment:

The period of introduction of the physical work has ended this season and now the next steps await. This summer is key to develop a good physical base and to get to know his limits. During the season practice and tournaments were the priorities while in the summer fitness part takes over the focus. For now, nothing special to say only that: in this area he needs to improve the most and we are curious to see where he will be at the end of the summer!

Comment:

Good but expected development. There is nothing very big to praise here because he has big potential in his game. He did good steps in direction own style and game, additionally concerning service-recvie and backhand part. His weaknesses improved, as well, but a big rise in his table tennis can be expected after and due to his mental and physical work in the future. Table tennis itself is the least problem for him, on the top, his game is designed to be very dangerous and promising!

Comment:

All good and decent here. Independent, well organised in general, no issues at all. He needs to understand himself more and more and to organise, spend his time more effectively off the table. He plays an important part to the group, makes a good balance and adds some extras to the others with his personality. His goal is to be attracted by Hugo for instance to be able to understand top level mentality not only in the hall but outside of it, as well.

OVERALL RATING		X
-----------------------	--	---	--	--

Comment:

We need to say and admit that he overdelivered the expectations! He became 99 on the WR, got a well deserved place in the Bundesliga for th next season, won 2 big tournaments in Hungary becoming a clear Nr. 1 in his country. All these steps are really great taking into account that he has just started the process of development on high level. Moreover, he improved his game and gathered some valuable lessons mentally during this season. So, let us continue, important summer and season approaching!!!
